Maids When Your Young

```
            G                                        D
Ver1:    An old man came courting me, hey-ding-a doo-rum
           G                                     D
         An old man came courting me, me being young
           G             Am            G            D
        An old man came courting me, all for his wife to be
        G                   C             D           G
        Maids, when you're young, never wed an old man

                G                                          D
Ch:     For he's got no fal-doo-rum-dah fal-diddle oo-doo
                G                                           D
        He's got no fal-doo-rum-dah fal-diddle-day
                G             Am               G               D
        He's got no fal-doo-rum-dah, lost his ding doo-re-um
                G                   C             D            G
        Maids, when you're young, never wed an old man

                           G                                   D
Ver2:    When this old man comes to bed, hey-ding-a doo-rum
                  G                                          D
        When this old man comes to bed, me being young
                 G                  Am             G              D
        When this old man comes to bed, he lays like he was dead
                G                   C             D            G
        Maids, when you're young, never wed an old man

Chorus:
                          G                                   D
Ver3:    When this old man goes to sleep, hey-ding-a doo-rum
                G                                          D
        When this old man goes to sleep, me being young
                G                  Am              G         D
        When this old man goes to sleep, out of bed I do creep
                G             C           D            G
                Into the arms of a handsome young man

Chorus:
                         G                                D
Ver4:    I wish this old man would die, hey-ding-a doo-rum
                 G                                         D
        I wish this old man would die, me being young
                G            Am                   G                    D
                I wish this old man would die, I'd make the money fly
                G                  C     D               G
        Girls, for your sake, never wed an old man

Chorus:
                         G                                D
Ver5:    A young man is my delight, hey-ding-a doo-rum
                 G                                         D
        A young man is my delight, me being young
                G            Am                   G                    D
        A young man is my delight, he'll kiss you day and night
                G                  C     D                G
        Maids, when you're young, never wed an old man
