Your Time Hasnt Come Yet Baby by Elvis Presley
#72 in 1968. (B-Side of Let Yourself Go.)

E                 A
Your time hasn't come yet baby,
    E                       B
You got a lot of dreams to go.
E                 A
Your time hasn't come yet baby,
            E         B          E
But when it does your heart will know.

#1.
       B                      E
You're gonna be a beautiful woman,
               B                E
Because you're such a beautiful child.
             F#
And when you start to bloom just like a rose in June,
          B                  B7
I bet the schoolboys all go wild, but right now...

CHORUS:

#2.
     B                        E
Your life's still a lollipop heaven.
           B                          E
Your teddy bear's at the foot of your bed.
           F#
The little boy next door who only makes you sore,
         B                  B7
Is gonna some day turn your head..but right now..

CHORUS:

#3.
             B
You're gonna grow overnight into a lady
with a devastating smile.
           F#
And then a lucky guy will see you,
          B                  B7
And wanna walk you down the aisle...but meanwhile..

CHORUS:
ADD:
       E         B          E
When it does your heart will know.(x2)
