Sinners, Behold the Lamb of God
Joseph Hoskins, 1789.
Robert Wainwright, 1774.

Sinners, behold the Lamb of God
Who takes away our guilt;
Look to the precious, priceless blood,
That Jews and Gentiles spilt.

From Heaven He came to seek and save,
Leaving His blest abode;
To ransom us Himself He gave;
"Behold the Lamb of God."

Sinners, to Jesus then draw near,
Invited by His word;
The chief of sinners need not fear,
"Behold the Lamb of God."

Spirit of grace, to us apply
Immanuel's precious blood;
That we may, with Thy saints on high,
"Behold the Lamb of God."
