

Mary's Wandering

Once Mary would go wandering to other land would run that she might find her Son,
that she might find her Son

Whom met she as she journeyed forth saint Peter, that good man who sadly did her scan,
who sadly did her scan

"Oh tell me have you seen Him yet the One I love the most
the Son Whom I have lost,

"Too well, too well I've seen thy Son 'twas by a palace gate most grievous was His state,

For save what wore He on His head a crown of thorns He wore a cross He also bore,

that she might find her Son,
