

Midnight angel

You're a midnight angel at twelve is when you start
Looking for a victim to feed your hungry heart
You say you don't love me still I wait all alone
For my midnight angel to come home

It seems I spent a lifetime between midnight and dawn
Watching from my window for a man to bring you home
Listening to the silence while waiting all alone
For my midnight angel to come home