You're just what the doctor ordered

You're just what the doctor told me I was needing (oh Doctor)
And I know he was right from the start
When I hold you close and kiss you I'm in heaven
You're just what the Doctor orderd for my broken heart

Not so long ago I thought I was in love
But now I know it wasn't meant to be (meant to be)
The moment I met you my skies of gray truned to blue
And the tears I've shed are just a memory (memory)

You're just what the doctor told me I was needing (oh Doctor)
When he took my pulse and looked down at his chart
You're a lot sweeter than the one I shed those tears for
You're just what the Doctor ordered for my broken heart

I thought I'd found my dove be she fed me poison love
And now I'm glad you've gone and set me free (set me free)
And now that you are mine the world is rolling fine
And the blues I knew is just a memory (memory)
