

She Darked The Sun
(Clark/Leadon)

It was not so long ago, maybe just a year or so I was lonely and was looking for someone went down south to New Orleans, still just searching for my dreams and that's when I saw her, that's how it all begun

She was there on that night said For you
I know I'm right
I'll be with you, until my race is run
She walked into my life with her cold evil eyes
With the length of her mind she darked the sun

Well my memory tries to speak, but, oh Lord, I'm feeling weak and I blame it on the fact that I was young Though I know it may sound strange, there is no way I can change
What my fate has picked out for me now is done

She was there on that night said For you
I know I'm right
I'll be with you, until my race is run
She walked into my life with her cold evil eyes
With the length of her mind she darked the sun and
With the length of her mind she darked the sun
