

You've Done Me Wrong
written by Ray Price - George Jones

Well, you tell me that you care
But now you're gone you got me crying
No use denying you done me wrong
If I could look inside your heart
Then maybe I would know the reason
Why you were leaving me all alone
Well, you know it's not so
When you say you tried you know you lied
I didn't do one wrong thing to you
Won't you tell me baby why you went and left me here so lonely
I miss you only for I love you

Did I ever make you sad so you'd be mad
Enough to hurt me and desert me
For so long
Well, you're tellin' everyone what you've done
You think it's funny well, listen, honey
You done me wrong
Well, you know it's not so
When you say you tried you know you lied
I didn't do one wrong thing to you
Won't you tell me baby why you went and left me here so lonely
I miss you only for I love you
