

Tear Drops

(Verse 1)

Oh my friend, can't you hear the Savior calling.
He stands right there and knocks at your hearts door.
In your pride, you say you'll wait until tomorrow.
And once again He's turned away like times before.

(Chorus)

And you say that you don't need this man called Jesus.
And you say that you can handle your own life.
But if you really believe the words you're saying.
Then tell me why are those teardrops in your eyes.

(Verse 2)

Oh the chance you're taking is a great one.
Put Jesus off and keep your life of sin.
Here He stands at your hearts door gently knocking.
Turn Him down and he may never call again.

(Verse 3)

You know it's true we've no promise of tomorrow.
And today could be your last chance to pray.
So come now while the Master's gently calling.
And don't let your pride again turn Him away.
