

Still Waters
by Donovan

Nobody really knew what was on her mind
They would talk among themselves, she is the silent kind
In a corner she would sit there, sussin' out the scene
And the desperates they would come to her if you know what I mean

Still waters run deep
Still waters run deep
Still waters run deep
Still waters run deep
Still waters they run deep
Still waters they run deep

Never had much to say, kids all called you queer
No capacity for learning anything but fear
Silly, thin and thoughtful, late night radio
Now, darlin', look at you now, it only goes to show

Still waters run deep
Still waters run deep, you gotta sow what you reap
Still waters run deep, you know my love is for keep
Still waters run deep
Still waters they run deep
Still waters they run deep

Still waters run deep, you know my love is for keep
Still waters run deep
Still waters run deep, you gotta sow what you reap
Still waters run deep

Still waters run deep...
