When righteousness declines and wickedness is strong
In the dawning of an age as a new age comes along
That's when I rise again, again, again to light the flame
Of truth within the world of men

I am light, I am truth, I am the fire of the sun
I am the hope of all the earth the power of the one

When men have lost their way and know not where to turn
And the future seems to lay where the fires of hatred burn
That's when I rise again again again to light the flame of love within the hearts of men

I am light, I am truth, I am the fire of the sun
I am the destiny of man, the Spirit of the one

When ignorance has bound the hearts of men in fear
And men cry out for help, and no one seems to hear
That's when I rise again, to break the bonds enslaving men
To let a new world be born.

I am light, I am truth, I am the fire of the sun
I am the hope of all the earth the triumph of the one.
