Woodland Waltz

Woodland Waltz

(Jim King)

Cho: Can you imagine a world without trees

Do you think you'd survive it for long

Put yourself to the test, try it with ease

Hold your breath for the rest of this song

Hornbeam and willow, maple and elm

Sycamore, chestnut and yew

Rowan and redwood, hazel and birch

Oak and holly, to name but a few

The tropical rainforest burns day and night

In Brazil they need land for the cow

But the Amazon Basin, the lungs of the world

Has a cancer that must be cured now

The scale of destruction eases production

Of beef for the hamburger king

Those meat mafiosos, that's how it goes

That's why I stand here and sing

If you've no objection to making a buck

And you don't think the future looks black

If it comes to the end you could be out of luck

If you had to inhale a Big Mac

Last chorus:

Can you imagine a world without trees

How long do you think you'd survive

Put yourself to the test, try it with ease

Hold your breath for the rest of your life
