

'Tis Summer in My Heart
Fanny Crosby, 1891.
John Sweney.

I know in whom my soul believes,
I know in whom I trust;
The Holy One, the merciful,
The only wise and just.

Refrain

I know in whom my soul believes,
And all my fears depart;
For though the winter winds may blow,
'Tis summer in my heart.

I know the Sun of Righteousness
Illumes the path I tread;
And buds of hope that never die
Their balmy odor shed.

Refrain

How sweet to walk obediently
With Christ my loving Lord;
And learn in simple, childlike faith
My duty from His Word.

Refrain

I know in yonder mansion bright
For me there is a place;
And there with Jesus I shall wake,
And see Him face to face.
