

A Light Behind the Cloud
Sarah Oberholtzer, 1899.
Adam Geibel.

Keep in heart, be ever patient,
There's a light behind the cloud;
Be not gloomy or discouraged,
Let not mists your soul enshroud.

Refrain

Oh, be patient, ever patient,
When life's cares around you crowd;
Oh, be patient, ever patient:
There's a light behind the cloud.

You remember Christ had trials
That were many and were sore;
And you may be only passing
O'er the ground He trod before.

Refrain

You can rift the cloud with sunshine
If your heart is glad within,
And make brighter paths to travel
If you prayerfully begin.

Refrain

All the light of life eternal,
That has shone the ages through,
Still exists, and is but waiting
To illuminate the true.

Refrain