

Christ the Lord Is Born

Edith Tillotson, 1914.

Ira Wilson.

Once again the Christmas bells have brought us

Tidings of good will and peace;

Once again the angel lips have taught us

Music that shall never cease.

Over all the world the song is sounding,

Ringling in the happy morn

"Glory! glory! Christ the Lord is born."

Refrain

Night of joy, when the star shone out above,

Night of joy when the world received that gift of love;

Oh, night of joy! and triumphant golden morn;

Glory! glory! Christ the Lord is born.

Many years have passed since first the story

Echoed over Bethlehem's plain;

Still we see the star in all its glory,

Still we hear the sweet refrain.

Everywhere we find glad voices singing

Welcome to His natal morn

"Glory! glory! Christ the Lord is born."
