

Come with the Wise Men
Burton Winslow, 1903.
Isaac Meredith.

Come with the wise men! led by any sign
This the holy promised one, babe, yet Lord divine!
Wonderful stranger from the courts above,
In the time appointed, God's gift of love.

Refrain

Homage we render, Thou king and defender!
Kneeling with wise men great, at love's holy shrine.
All lands shall own Thee!
As Lord shall enthrone Thee!
Thine is the kingdom, and the glory Thine!

Seek with the wise men! seek, and ye shall find
Seeking all the world He came, Savior of mankind!
Wise men are seekers, they the truly wise
See! the Sought for ages before you lies!

Refrain

Kneel with the wise men! 'tis the Lord of all,
At whose feet the saints above now adoring fall!
Offer your rarest, own Him as your Lord;
His a royal service with great reward.
