

His Grace Is Sufficient for Me
Anna Russell, 1922.
Ernest Sellers.

Wherever my home, wherever I roam,
Wherever my dwelling may be;
Tho' skies may be blue or skies may be gray,
His grace is sufficient for me.

Refrain

As the waters cover the sea,
So God's mercy covereth me;
I am under His care,
Every day, everywhere,
For His grace is sufficient for me.

Wherever I'm called to labor for Him,
At home or across the wide sea;
His presence is there, I'm under His care,
His grace is sufficient for me.

Refrain

His mercy and love endureth for aye,
There's naught that His eye cannot see;
He holdeth the wealth of the world in His hand,
His grace is sufficient for me.
