

No Righteousness of Mine

Neil Barham, 2005.

John Darwall, 1770.

No righteousness of mine

Can stand before the Throne,

But Christ's own perfect works are now my very own!

In Christ I'm free!

The Cross of Christ made peace with God for even me!

The holy law of God

That once declared my death

Now whispers "All is well" with Jesus' dying breath!

Once dead, now raised!

His glorious Cross puts Death to death! Let Christ be praised!

Now Sinai holds no fear!

Its fiery curses fade,

Outshined by rays of grace in Calv'ry's love displayed!

In worship, fall!

Adore the Son of God whose outpoured blood heals all!
