

The Glorious Tidings
Victor Hatfield, 1912.
Susie Hatfield.

Christ is your Redeemer, He descended from the throne,
Shout the glorious tidings, swell the strains of gladness;
Lived a life of poverty to claim you for His own:
Shout the glorious tidings to the world.

Refrain

Sing with exultation, catch the inspiration,
Let the joyful banners be unfurled;
Shout the glorious tidings, swell the notes of rapture,
Shout the glorious tidings to the world.

Christ has opened wide the door that all may enter in;
Shout the glorious tidings, swell the strains of gladness;
On the cross He shed His blood to ransom you from sin;
Shout the glorious tidings to the world.

Refrain

Have you found the Savior, are you striving to be true?
Shout the glorious tidings, swell the strains of gladness;
Go and tell to others what His love has done for you:
Shout the glorious tidings to the world.

Refrain