

There Won't Be Another Now
 Written by Red Lane
 Recorded by Merle Haggard

(Capo on 2)

Intro.: (G) x 4

(G) Porch swing is squeaking, and the night is like it should be
 The stars in the sky putting on a show for you and me
 (Am7) (Bm7) I (C)got a lot of words to say, (D) if only I knew (G)how
 (Am7) (Bm7) (C) Hmm (Bm7)hmm (Am7)hmm (G)hmm
 There may be another (D)morning, (Em) (F#m) but there won't be another
 (G)now

(G) We were kids together, and I loved you all the years I known you
 With hungry eyes I watched you, as your young body has out grown you (Am7) (Bm7) (C)Something deep inside of me (D)makes me want to kiss you on (G)mouth
 (Am7) (Bm7) (C) Hmm (Bm7)hmm (Am7)hmm (G)hmm
 There may be another (D)morning, (Em) (F#m) but there won't be another
 (G)now

I (D)need you, I want you, I love you, can't you feel (G) it
 (A) You won't give your love to me, I just may have to (D)steal it (E) (F)
 (F#)

Your (G)eyes hold the secret, and I like the look your using A certain look of innocence is fighting but still loosing
 (Am7) (Bm7) (C)Slowly the oak tree disap-(D)-pears, and the willow starts to
 (G) bow
 (Am7) (Bm7) (C) Hmm (Bm7)hmm (Am7)hmm (G)hmm
 There may be another (D)morning, (Em) (F#m) but there won't be another
 (G)now
 Your the one that I been (D)waiting for, (Em) (F#m) and there won't be another now
