

Ten Little Sweatshops
By:William Wolff
Music by Sep Winner

Ten little sweatshops the bosses thought were fine;
The union organized one; then there were nine!

Nine little sweatshops working very late;
Another bunch of workers struck; then there were eight!

Eight little sweatshops stinking to high heaven;
The sanitary code got one; then there were seven!

Seven little sweatshops, you should have heard the kicks
The workers made about their pay; then there were six!

Six little sweatshops, the union made a drive
And picketed another; then there were five!

Five little sweatshops rotten to the core;
Another signed up with the union; then there were four!

Four little sweatshops, they're going fast, you see;
One sold out to another; then there were only three!

Three little sweatshops, the workers vowed to sue
For back wages due to them; then there were two!

Two little sweatshops, another battle won
By union solidarity; then there was one!

One lonely sweatshop, our tale is almost done;
All of them were organized; now there are none!
