

We Come from out of the Mills and Shops
By:Edith Berkowitz

We come from out of the mills and shops;
We come from out of the mines,
Singing the songs of the workers' fight,
Strong voices and lengthening lines.
Too long we've served the bosses
To make their lives complete.
They've refused to heed our suff'ring,
But they'll hear our marching feet!
We come, the workers' red flag unfurled;
We come to take back our world!
