

What Good Is Love

By: Pins and Needles

composed by Harold Rome

Everywhere I go, I hear sweet songs about the moon,
Songs about the stars above and songs of love in June,
Songs of hearts that beat as one to some sweet lover's tune,
But they're not songs that sing for me!
I hear songs about the dreams that lie within a lover's eye,
Songs about the cloudless sky in lover's paradise,
Songs about the joys of love and lover's lullabies,
But they're not songs that sing for me!

What good is love
If you have to face cold, hungry days and sighing?
What good is love
If life's just a race to keep your heart from crying?
Let the poets sing
Of skies above and endless love and hearts that dance!
Where is my chance
For the call of romance?
Oh, what good is love
If you haven't got all that makes life worth living?
What good is love
If you haven't got even a thing worth giving?
You can keep your little songs that sing
Of all the joy that love can bring!
What good's romance?
What good is love to me?

What good is love
If you have to face cold, hungry days and sighing?
What good is love
If life's just a race to keep your heart from crying?
Let the poets sing
Of skies above and endless love and hearts that dance!
Where is my chance
For the call of romance?
Oh, what good is love
If you haven't got all that makes life worth living?
What good is love
If you haven't got even a thing worth giving?
You can keep your little songs that sing
Of all the joy that love can bring!
What good's romance?
What good is love to me?
