Capo III

Am G G Am

Where the river runs to black^G
I take the schoolbooks from your pack^{Am}
Plastics, wire and your kiss^F
The breath of eternity on your lips^{Am}
In the crowded market place^G
I drift from face to face^{Am}
I hold my breath and close my eyes^F
I hold my breath and close my eyes^{Am}
And I wait for paradise^G
And I wait for paradise^{Am G}
Am G G Am

The Virginia hills have gone to brown^G
Another day another sun going down^{Am}
I visit you in another dream^F
I visit you in another dream^{Am}
I reach and feel your hair^G
Your smell lingers in the air^{Am}
I brush your cheek with my finger tips^F
I taste the void upon your lips^{Am}
And I wait for paradise^G
And I wait for paradise^{Am}
F Am G G Am

I search for you on the other side^G
Where the river runs clean and wide^{Am}
Up to my heart the waters rise^F
Up to my heart the waters rise^{Am}
I sink beneath the water cool and clear^G
Drifting down, I disappear^{Am}
I see you on the other side^F

I search for the peace in your eyes ^{Am}
But they're as empty as paradise ^G
They're as empty as paradise ^{Am}

F Am G G Am

I break above the waves ^G
I feel the sun upon my face ^{Am}

F Am G G Am 2x
