I'll Go Back to My Old Love Again.
Copyright, 1875, by E. H. Harding.

I'll go beck to my old love again,
She will smile and forgive me I know,
Every day brings sorrow and pain,
And I'm weary wherever I go;
While we live thus apart, there's a sigh In my heart,
And I try to be glad, but in vain.
There's a sweet voice that whispers to me-
"You mast go back to your old love again."

Chorus.
I'll go back again. I'll go back again.
And remove from my heart all its pain;
In my sorrow no more I shall roam-
I'll go back to my old love again.

Once again I will sit by her side,
And the light of her smile will be mine,
And the love which my absence denied.
Will be brought back in gladness divine;
We will kiss and forgive, and in future will live
Ear away from all sorrow And pain;
Oh! the thought brings me hope and delight-
I'll go back to my old love again.-Chorus.

She will sing all the songs of the past.
Which have echoed so long in my heart;
I remember the tweet spell they cast
All around me, that ne'er would depart;
Many years since have fled, but the dream is not dead,
While I live it will always remain;
There is joy in the future for me,
For I'll soon see my old love again.-Chorus.
