

'cause You're Sweeter Than The Rest - song lyrics

American Old-time song lyrics from www.traditionalmusic.co.uk

'Cause You're Sweeter than the Rest.

Copyright. MDCCCXCVI, by Henry J. Wehman.

Words and Music by Charles Shackford.

Two little tots were gazing Into a candy store.

They had no shoes or stockings on, just gingham frocks, no more;

He said, "I choose the candyman, you know I saw it first."

She said, "That's, what I wanted," then in tears she burst:

Chorus.

"You know you are my sweetheart, so you may have first choice,"

She wiped her tears away and said, "I'm sorry I was cross;

I don't want any candyman, for I like you the best,

You know you are my sweetheart, 'cause your sweeter than the rest."

They saw their playmates sitting on Mullen's old push-cart,

A German band began to play, just over in the park;

The boys and girls then made a ring, each held his sweetheart's hand,

And all joined in the Chorus with the German band:- Chorus.