

Marry Me Again

(Debi Smith and Tom Paxton)

Marry me again; marry me tonight
I will bring the candles; you turn out the light.
Safely in our own world, we'll remember when
We will plan tomorrow-- marry me again

Marry me again; come and hold me tight
When I see you smiling, I don't need the light
I love you even more now - than I loved you then
Come and make me happier still--marry me again

All I ask is all your days and nights
All I ask is all your months and years
We've already come so far together
We've already buried all our fears

You will never know; you would never guess
Just how much I love you, unless I confess
Telling you I love you ten times ten times ten
Make my life complete, now, marry me again
