

Victoria Dines Alone

(C)Victoria dines alone, she skips the pot(F)atoes,
(C)Victoria begins her meal with greens and to(F)atoes.
(Dmin)Reading the newspaper carefully folded be(C)side her,
(Dmin)Hanging her coat by her table and letting it (C)hide her.

Victoria dines alone, her dress is old-fashioned.
Victoria watches her weight, each meal is rationed.
Salisbury steak, and news of the student disorder.
Parsnips in butter, and armies patrolling their borders.

Victoria's feet are tired she wants to go home,
She orders her coffee with cream, and drinks it alone.

Victoria dines alone with Hollywood fables,
The waiters are counting time and polishing tables.
Victoria's feeding a strong astrological forces
Cheesecake and coffee, and columns of renal divorces.

Victoria's feet are tired she wants to go home,
She orders her coffee with cream, and drinks it alone.

Victoria dines alone, she skips the potatoes.
