

Love is a stranger

I love on a street of sorrow
The blues keep knocking at my door
I leave each new born day for tomorrow
For love is a stranger to me for ever more

I've changed my address, but the blues keep hanging round
There's a new street number, but sorrow's all I've found
I awaken from sweet dreams each night to find that you are gone
And love is a stranger and a memory from now on

Will this ever end I keep on wondering
Will that stranger known as love give me a smile
Must I go through life alone pretending
Or will love be a stranger until the end of time
