

Snow white grave

All around the cabin door falls little flakes of snow
I'm searching for the foot prints of the one that I loved so
The last time I saw my darling the earth was covered white
And little flakes of snow have faded my sweetheart's path tonight

From this cabin she did go, I watched her foot prints fade
I don't know why she left me, I never dreamed she'd go away
Little snow flakes fell from Heaven from the Heaven way up above
And paved a way made a snow white grave of the only one I loved

She left memory of tender love and a picture on the wall
My teardrops now are bigger than the snow white flakes that fall
And each moment I grow weaker sadly gazing at the snow
And I feel that I will fade away with that slow melting snow

* Refrain