

Bluegrass Songs - Lyrics

You could never be true

I gave you every chance to be true
But it seems like that's too much for you
I took you back when you were running around
When you promised me you'd settle down

You're just the kind that could never be true
You break my heart with everything that you do
It's better that I should even start again
With you sweet heart I know I can't win

There's just no use trying to live with you
There's something wrong you'll never be true
You tear me up with your rambling ways
Then you could back and say you're home to stay

* Refrain
