Sing, Irishman, Sing

Sing, Irishman, Sing

I dream of a beautiful picture
No more need we think of the past
They're singing and dancing in Ireland
And the people are happy at last.

Chorus: Sing, Irishman, sing
So the sound of your voices will ring
And let the world know, it really is so
Sing, Irishman, sing.

There's laughter in Belfast and Derry
The music rings over the land
In Calvin, Kilkenny and Kerry.
Oh, boys, I can tell you, it's grand.

Chorus

No more need little ones suffer
The rifles will bring no more pain
They're singing and dancing in Ireland
And the people are happy again.

Chorus

I know that it's only a dream now
But my hopes will always remain
To see the sun shine over Ireland
And the people are happy again.

Chorus

Note: When my friends sing "Come Out You Black and Tans," I always request this song to follow it, to change the anger into hope.
