

The Holy Word of God
Joshua Drake, 2004.

The Holy Word of God:
It is the Christian's rule
To teach, correct, rebuke and train
The Church's priceless jewel.

Let others rule by whim
Their lives from day to day.
God's children have His Holy Word,
Which gladly they obey.

God-breathed, yet penned by man,
Preserved by arms and art,
The Church has born it in her breast
She dare not from it part!

Nor could she ever do,
Else truth she could not know,
But set adrift in lies and myth
On wayward paths to go.

Yet we've no cause to fear.
God's promises are true.
The gates of hell will not prevail
O'er those His grace imbues.

So let God's true Church sing:
Those who His Word do love
Whom, as is written, shall be saved
To join His courts above.
