

WHEN LOVE HAS GONE

Ralph McTell

When lovers part time can provide
A healing they can build upon
Discerning pain from injured pride
When it seems all love is gone.

She says she loves him like a brother
He knows he ain't done nothing wrong
She's just fallen for another
To him it seems all love is gone.

I see it on my TV screen
Makes me wince and cry
To think of how it should have been
That this could come between you and I.

But what of brothers, egg and seed
Closer than father and son
From cold hands hot resentment feeds
When it seems all love is gone.

I see it on my TV screen
Makes me wince and cry
To think of how it should have been
That this could come between you and I.

I see it on my TV screen
Makes me wince and cry
To think of how it should have been
That this could come between you and I.

Reason's anger's casualty
Dark despair may follow on.
Hearts as cold as charity
When it seems all love is gone.
