

Jenny, Who Lives In The Dell - song lyrics

American Old-time song lyrics from www.traditionalmusic.co.uk

Jenny, Who Lives in the Dell.

Oh! the fairies have not all departed
And hid this dull planet adieu;
For I know a maid gentle-hearted,
With eyes that are tender And blue-
You'd take, in a moment, to be one-
She weaves in all bosoms a spell;
So if you are longing to see one,
It's Jenny, who lives in the dell.

Chorus.

Jenny, who lives in the dell,
Jeuny, who lives in the dell;
There is no maid so bright And bonny
As Jeuny, who lives in the dell.

Oh! I'm sighing wherever I wander,
My heart has been stolen away;
On nothing at all do I ponder,
But Jenuy's fair face, all the day;
But she sings as blithesome as ever,
And knows that I love her so well;
For, love, in his roving, has never
Found Jenny who lived in the dell. - Chorus
